Ever since the Edward Snowden security leaks in 2013, government sanctioned spying and hacking on each other and private companies has been on the rise. From China to Romania to Russia to the U.S., international security breaches involving the NSA, CIA and even private corporations have been linked to international cyber spies. Scott Schober, BVS CEO & Cyber Security Expert, has appeared on many news sites and networks with his expert analysis.

October 28, 2013
States Consider Tracking Drivers’ Mileage To Target Road Taxes
- States considering “black boxes” to track drivers
- Tracked drivers would be taxed based on mileage
- Potential privacy & security issues arise

“Imagine that you didn’t pay your mileage tax. Could they shut your car off?”

October 31, 2013
NSA Taps Tech Companies Abroad
- NSA hacks Google servers outside of U.S.
- All metadata and data content scraped
- Under a joint NSA & GCHQ program MUSCULAR

“How do they do it? They’re [NSA] actually just tapping into the fiber. They’re waiting for these chunks, masses, gigabytes of data a time and they can pull it out.”

February 19, 2014
Romania Considered Capital of Global Cybercrime
- Great universities for learning IT & security software
- Firewalls are no match for latest hacking skills
- Romanian hackers putting together puzzle pieces to sell your identity to the highest bidder

“About 80% of the cybercrimes out of Romania are targeted towards U.S. citizens as well as corporations.”
May 20, 2014
U.S. Accuse Chinese of Hacking Several Top Companies
• China targeting U.S. companies for economic espionage
• 5 high level Chinese military officials indicted
• Top levels of Chinese government condones espionage

“...The challenge and problems from a governmental standpoint is the credibility is challenging talking to China because of all the Edward Snowden leaks...”

July 10, 2014
Chinese Hackers Breach Federal Employee Database
• Chinese hackers accused of stealing federal employee data
• Hackers likely supported by Chinese government
• U.S. China Strategic Economic Dialogue agenda cancelled

GLOBAL CYBER ATTACKS AT A GLANCE